“ You were the last person to help me and your sister move when we couldn't find anybody to help us. You asked to help and that showed what kind of man you were. I will never forget you, and the last conversations we had about life. You told me that you believed that this life was never the end. You're right my guy, it's not the end. You didn't not fear death you feared not being remembered. You will be remembered by everyone you talked to. Your spirit lives in each and every one of us. Your sisters and your brothers, your friends, your mother and father. As I leave this heart felt message I shed tears because you are a GOOD MAN. Until we meet again.
